Winter Carnival Plans Discussed At Blaimore

BLAIRMORE — Blaimore Board of Trade held its regular monthly meeting in the Greenhill Dine and Dance Thursday evening when a tentative date was set for the annual Crow's Nest Pass Winter Carnival. Possible date set for the colorful affair was the weekend of February 18. Volunteers were then called for work on the various committees for planning for the week-end of fun.

A brief from the Waterton Lakes Chamber of Commerce was received by the board and after studying it the local board favored the suggestion contained and will endorse the brief which is to be sent to the British Columbia government. The brief calls for enlargement of the park area into B.C. the stocking of lakes in the area with fish and building a swimming pool to replace Lake Linnet which is considered unfit for swimming.

A report was heard from the Coleman Board of Trade indicating that work on making an industrial survey of the area was progressing.

Joe Dobek was appointed to replace Norman Lind as treasurer of the local Board of Trade. Mr. Lind left here on November 1 for a new posting with the forestry department at Rocky Mountain House. Several films "The Fossil Story" and "Fishing in Newfoundland" were shown.

Assault Theft Charges Result in Jail, and Suspension

A Coleman man was sentenced to jail and a Lethbridge resident received suspended sentence in district court here Tuesday on charges of assault and theft.

Michael Ferrara of Coleman, and George Veale of Lethbridge, both pleaded guilty before Judge L. S. Turcotte to charges of assaulting Thomas Leukaw and stealing $2, a mouth organ and a pair of gloves from him.

Ferrara was sentenced to two months in the Lethbridge Provincial Jail for assault and one month, to run concurrently, for theft while Veale was given a one year suspended sentence on $200 recognizance.

Crown Prosecutor J. Harper Prowse told court the three men had been drinking at the River Bottom when the assault took place. He read a statement by Mr. Leukaw saying the two had "worked him over" for about 15 or 20 minutes, then left him to walk back to the city.

Arthur Beaumont, counsel for the defence, maintained the assault had not been premeditated and was the result of their having been drinking. He asked for clemency for Ferrara and a suspended sentence for Veale because of his age. Veale is 19 years old.

Judge Turcotte said in passing sentence on Ferrara he had taken into account the fact there had been no trouble previous to the assault.

To Veale he stated: "You were apparently more of an onlooker than anything else but you certainly have nothing to be proud of. You should have seen that he was looked after."

Special Liquor and Dancing Hours December 31

Lethbridge liquor store and those throughout the province will close at 6 p.m. and all beverage rooms will stop serving at 8 p.m. on Christmas and New Year's Eve. George Clash chairman of the Alberta Liquor Control board, announced.

Beverage rooms will have no supper break between 6:30 and 7:30 p.m.

Special liquor permits for party purposes will be issued as usual, but will be valid only until 11:30 p.m. New Year's Eve. Mr. Clash said the early hour was required because New Year's Day falls on a Sunday, the first since 1949.

At that time an order-in-council set aside the provisions of the Amusement Act to allow entertainment to continue until 1 a.m. Sunday.

Coleman Society Receives Charter

Mrs. Nora Goulding, president of the Coleman Old Age Pensioners Association announced this week that the Coleman group was now a club as the local association received its charter.

At the meeting of the group held this week it was decided to hold a Christmas supper for the members.

Permission was granted P. DeCocco of Coleman to sell Christmas trees under the name of the association with proceeds from the sale to be turned over to the association.

During the evening A. Phillips of Coleman entertained the meeting with several songs, accompanied by pianist Bert Bond. A community sing-song was also held.

Legion Armistice Dance Has Fair Attendance

The severe change of weather conditions on Thursday afternoon which dropped temperature to below zero in a short space of time, causing streets and roads to become heavily iced caused dance enthusiasts to stay by the fire-side rather than brave the weather conditions.

Those that did venture out to the dance enjoyed themselves till 1:30 in the morning. Some confusion had resulted previous to the dance as unofficial rumors were started that it was postponed owing to the original band pulling out at the last minute, but the committee were able to obtain a popular dance band in time to carry on. It is regrettable that these irresponsible parties who make these statements helped to restrict the attendance at this fine dance. The committee wishes to thank all of those who attended.

Station Ready To Provide Top Service For Vast Territory

Television screens throughout Southern Alberta will come to life when Western Canada's newest and most modern television station, CJLT-TV in Lethbridge, hits the air with its first programs.

Less than a year from the time initial plans were laid for it, the 171,000-watt station will turn living rooms into private theatres and bring top-flight performances to an entertainment-starved area.

Start of telecasting on a regular daily schedule here will mark the beginning of a new era in one of the most progressive areas of Canada.

The privately-owned station was built jointly by The Lethbridge Herald and radio station CJOC to answer the needs of South Albertans, only a few of whom were able previously to get fringe-area reception from Calgary or Great Falls.

Operating on Channel 7, the local station will blanket an area lying within a radius of 75 to 100 miles, giving it an effective coverage of homes almost from the Crow's Nest Pass to Medicine Hat and from south of the U.S. border to Nanton.

CJLT-TV will be a basic outlet for the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's television network, and will also draw upon four U.S. networks for programs.

In addition, right from the start of broadcasting, it will present a minimum of one hour of live shows each day from its own studios on the northeast outskirts of the city.

Town Work Crews Very Prompt In Sanding Streets

Town Foreman, J. Kinnear lost no time in having town work crews out after the severe storm on Friday sanding very icy streets. This is one thing that the residents of Coleman can be very proud of, as so many towns that we have visited are very slow in snow removal and in sanding icy streets. Numerous reports have been coming in to the number of accidents caused by this storm. Several residents slipped on roads and some rolled over causing extensive damage to their cars, no reports of any injuries have been received as yet.

Coleman Lions To Present "Two For Company"

Miss Anna Reiser

An exciting show business "HIT" is to play Coleman on November 26 under the sponsorship of the Coleman Lions Club in the Elk Hall. A professional theatrical production entitled "Two For Company" co-starring Mr. Eric Christmas, the internationally famous stage, radio and television performer, and Miss Anna Reiser, the brilliant young Canadian actress.

"Two For Company" will be a sparkling two-hour Theatre Party filled with laughs — for which Eric Christmas is famous — balanced by suspenseful drama, with a touch of sentiment thrown in for good measure.

Mr. Christmas will be readily known to C.B.C. radio and T.V. fans. During the last seven years he has performed on over one thousand network productions, playing parts ranging from the fabulous "Madam Hooberdink" on the Wayne and Shuster Show to starring dramatic roles on many of the C.B.C. Wednesday Night and Stage series of broadcasts.

Miss Reiser has recently returned from Europe to electrify Canadian T.V. viewers with her performances in such productions as "The Leonardo Code" and

"Drought", both of which were acclaimed by Toronto critics.

Mr. Christmas and Miss Reiser have long felt that first-class Canadian talent should be seen in person throughout the country in communities large and small, and therefore they have combined their acting talents into an evening of comedy skits and dramatic scenes under the title of "Two For Company" — the kind of program that Ruth Draper and Charles Laughton have made famous all over the world.

For many communities "Two For Company" will be the first high-calibre professional performance to be seen in several decades, and Mr. Christmas and Miss Reiser look forward to making many new friends on their tour, with the hope that it will be the forerunner of future presentations under their direction.

The tour will cover 8,000 miles, with nearly forty towns to be visited, from Timmins, Ontario to Prince Rupert, B.C.

The response to the announcement of the tour has been wonderful and both Mr. Christmas and Miss Reiser are proud to see that Canada is so solidly behind its own excellent talent.

Coleman Remembrance Day Services Poorly Attended Due To Severe Weather Conditions

Coleman Remembrance Day ceremonies were poorly attended as weather conditions dropped to the twenty below with a bitter east wind and light snow. Cenotaph services were curtailed to a minimum with only the laying of wreaths and the firing party, with the Last Post and Reveille ceremonies.

The parade assembled at the Canadian Legion under Capt. J. A. McDonald as parade marshal. Leading the parade was the R.C.M.P. Legion Color party, Coleman Pipe Band under Pipe-Major Moore. R.C.E.M.E. Color Party. Honor guard, firing party, R.C.E.M.E. troop Legionnaires, Polish Veterans, Canadian Legion Ladies Auxiliary, Cadets Brownies, and Cubs. The parade marched to the Roky theatre for remembrance services under Rev. F. A. Dykes. Opening ceremony saw the Colors advanced and O'Canada was sung after which Hon. Vice-President Mayor Frank Abousaffay as chairman for the occasion introduced Rev. R. McAulay, Capt. Arkanstall and Rev. F. A. Dykes Canadian Legion chaplain. Mayor Abousaffay spoke upon this solemn event that started at the signing of the Armistice on November 11, 1918. Invocation prayer was given by Rev. R. McAulay, and the scripture reading by Capt. Arkanstall followed by the tableau "Remember" moved by R. Crippen. This very moving ceremony was opened with trumpet and drum by J. Lowe and H. Parkinson respectively S/Sgt. J. Myslicki knelt by the cross with R. Crippen reading the scrip, upon completion the Roll Call of Honor was read, 1914-1918 by M. Drew and 1939-45 by Legion President J. Kullig, followed by the recital of In Flanders Field by A. Wilson to complete the ceremony the trumpet and drum corp sounded Call Me Home. The chairman's address was given by Mayor F. Abousaffay whose theme was the British Empire and how people of all nationalities had welded together to form this great empire. He stated that if all people would follow this example there would be no need for wars. Mayor Abousaffay gave a very fine speech and if its text could be sent to other countries it may change the thinking of the people who seem set upon conquest. Rev. F. A. Dykes addressed the theme "If ye break faith with us who die, we shall not sleep." The spirit of sacrifice shown by these men of two world wars, seemed to be lacking today within our community. He gave as an example the Boy Scout movement which was falling to pieces because of lack of sacrifice of time by someone capable of leading these fine lads, in Coleman today. The two minute silence was observed after which the Colors were retired, followed by "God Save The Queen." A very capable choir was in attendance under the direction of Mrs. Arline Hill which rendered four beautiful hymns.

The parade was reformed and proceeded to the Cenotaph for the laying of wreaths and the Last Post and Reveille was sounded by J. Lowe of the R.C.E.M.E. Band. Rev. F. A. Dykes gave the opening prayer and the benediction. Mayor Abousaffay read the order of wreaths. The bitter cold curtailed Cenotaph services as the committee felt that it was too severe for the personnel involved.

GETTING SHORT

Watch for higher poultry and dairy products prices. Points out The Financial Post. Population growth is outstripping production of eggs, cutting into previously big surpluses of milk. There is now less than one per cent production surplus of milk.

This could be wiped out entirely by export sales and increased consumption. Already Canada is importing more and more poultry (some 7 million lbs. this year) and starting to bring in eggs from the United States.

Long-time Pass Resident Dies

BLAIRMORE — A long-time resident of the Crow's Nest Pass district, Augusts Gebelin of Blaimore, died in the Crow's Nest Pass Municipal hospital Saturday afternoon following a one-year illness.

Mr. Gebelin, 71, was born in Bamelles, France, on January 14, 1884 and came from his homeland over 50 years ago settling in Washington where he worked in the coal mines. He came to Canada 49 years ago settling in Frank where he worked in the old Frank mine. Mr. Gebelin also worked in the mines in Lille before transferring to the West Canadian Collieries as a miner in Blaimore where he has resided since 1936. He was a member of the Blaimore local of the United Mine workers of America and of the Catholic faith.

He was predeceased by his wife Louise at Blaimore 14 years ago. Surviving are one daughter Mary Louise, Mrs. Wilford Mundi of Lundbreck, two grandchildren and a sister-in-law, Mrs. Mary Labonne of Blaimore.

School Teacher Honored by School Staff

School teachers from the staff of Central and Cameron Schools gathered in the Cathedral School auditorium on Friday afternoon in honor of Mrs. D. Bouthillier who was recently married. Mr. H. Allen, principal, presented her with a gift on behalf of the staff and wished her every success and happiness in the years to come.

Mrs. Bouthillier accepted the gift and thanked all those present for the thoughtfulness on their part.

A dainty lunch was then served to the assembled guests.

Former Coleman Resident Dies In Ontario

Many Coleman residents will be sorry to hear of the passing of Miss Margaret Surtees, at Clarence, Ont., on September 3rd, 1955.

Miss Surtees was the housekeeper at the Coleman Miner's Hospital, leaving Coleman to return to Ontario in 1939. While in Coleman she was an active member of the Rebecca Lodge No. 7, the L.O.B.A. and the Ladies' Aid of St. Paul's United Church.

Goodwill W. A. Holds Meeting

At a recent meeting of the Goodwill W. A. of St. Paul's United Church it was decided to again donate $25.00 to sponsor one boy to attend Boy's Parliament which will be held in the Parliament Buildings, Edmonton, this year. Other groups in the Church will be approached to help send boys.

All the members then worked on novelties for the coming Bazaar. Two new members were welcomed to the group. Refreshments were then served at the close of the meeting.

For the Birds!

Turkeys are birds that are hatched and grown in the West to keep the producer broke and the buyer crazy.

Turkeys vary in quality and the man who can guess nearest to the grades is called "Government Grader" by the public and other names by the producer.

The price of turkeys is determined at primary markets and goes up when you have sold and down when you have bought.

A buyer representing a large wholesale house was sent to one of the buying centers to ascertain market conditions and after a few days' deliberation, wired his house to this effect:

"Some think they will go up and some think they will go down. I do too. Whatever you do will be wrong. Act at once."

Turkeys are hatched in the Spring, mortgaged in the Summer and lost in the Fall.

Coleman Savings and Credit Union Ltd. Receives Praise

Mr. T. A. Collister, Sec.-Treas., Coleman Savings & Credit Union Ltd., Coleman, Alberta.

Dear Mr. Collister:

We are certainly interested in the last statement received from you for your September 30th report to the government.

It might be of interest to your group to learn that we have indicated to a number of the officials in the Credit Union movement throughout the North American Continent just what success you have had in maintaining your position despite the economic conditions that prevail in Coleman.

Two weeks ago while the writer was in Madison, Wisconsin, on an organization program, we were very proud to show the officials at Madison the fact that Coleman Savings and Credit Union Limited had not only maintained its position, despite the economic conditions, but had improved it during the period that we felt was very critical to yourself and your members. We commend you for the hard work you have done and we know it must have been nothing short of heart-breaking to see some of the members who had so loyally supported your own movement find their incomes reduced through the economic conditions which prevailed in the Coleman area.

Carry on the good work Mr. Collister and if our League can be of any help to you, do not hesitate to ask for assistance. Kindest regards,

Yours very truly,
S. O'BRIEN
Managing Director.

Campaign to Eliminate Automobile Accidents

OTTAWA — A national campaign to eliminate all automobile accidents for one 24-hour period in every Canadian community will be spearheaded by Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent.

The Prime Minister has announced Thursday, December 1, as S-D (safe driving) Day. Mr. St. Laurent has urged every community to join in the one-day safety crusade. Prime Ministers of all provinces are expected to lend their support to the campaign.

S-D Day will be observed at the same time throughout the United States under the sponsorship of the President's Action Committee for Traffic Safety. They will work hand-in-hand with the Canadian Highway Safety Conference in promoting the simultaneous safety drive throughout North America.

In announcing S-D Day, Mr. St. Laurent stressed the need for a broad and continuous drive against traffic accidents.

Both in Canada and the United States, the mounting accident toll has become a matter of grave public concern. The Prime Minister said: "It is only natural therefore that the two countries should concentrate on the same day to avoid all traffic accidents for 24 hours."

Most Canadian communities are expected to set up their own campaigns in an effort to keep the local S-D Day accident count at nil.

Purpose of the campaign is twofold.

If each area and community across Canada can keep accidents at the zero point, the total will represent one full day without an accident.

And, if accidents can be wiped out for 24 hours, the individual driver and pedestrian will have proof positive that accidents can be eliminated not just one but every day of the year.

Leaders of the Canadian Highway Safety Conference say they are not hoping for a perfect record. However, even an appreciable cut in the number of accidents on December 2 will prove that concentrated public attention to traffic accidents and their causes can pay off.

Canada providing inventory Ceylon natural resources

OTTAWA.—Canadian capital and Canadian personnel, employing aerial survey methods utilized extensively in this country, will provide Ceylon with an inventory of its natural resources, commencing in the immediate future.

Under provisions of the Colombo Plan for the economic development of South and Southeast Asia, a contract has been awarded to the Photographic Survey Corporation, Limited, of Toronto, extending over a period of two years. In making this announcement, Mr. Nik Cavell, administrator of the International Economic and Technical Co-operation division, said that the cost of this survey would be $500,000, spread over a two-year period.

A similar project was undertaken by the Photographic Survey Corporation in Pakistan, which aroused the interest of government officials in Ceylon. Accordingly, Canada was requested to make provision under the Colombo Plan for a resources inventory of the entire island, covering an area of approximately 25,000 square miles.

Mr. Cavell said that an operation centre will be established for the integration of aerial photographic studies on a continuing basis. A special building will be provided with laboratory facilities, and Ceylonese technicians trained in modern air survey methods.

The whole island will be photographed from the air from a Lockheed Hudson aircraft equipped with the necessary cameras. Maps and maps will be prepared from the photographs, and geological and forestry studies undertaken with the aid of special equipment. A river basin will be examined from the air and on the ground by agricultural and irrigation experts. Arrangements will also be made to replant the city of Kandy with the use of air photographs.

Plans for this resources inventory were made following a survey of the situation in Ceylon by Dr. J. D. Mollard, chief of the Air Photo Analysis and Engineering Geology department, of Agriculture, Regina. J. M. Henderson, who was project manager of the resources inventory in Pakistan, will lead a group of specialists in aerial surveying, photography, geology, forestry, soils engineering and other pertinent fields being sent to Ceylon by the Photographic Survey Corporation.

No-bandage treatment for burns

CHICAGO. — A relatively new "no-bandage" treatment of severe burns in children—described as potentially important in any atomic warfare—allows up to 75 percent reduction in hospital time for such cases, the American Academy of Pediatrics was told here recently.

Dr. Kenneth J. Welch of Harvard Medical School and Boston City Hospital said children having burns involving from 35 to 70 percent of the body's surface can be released from the hospital in three to four months, compared with "a year plus" under the conventional method of applying compression bandages.

Free of restraining bandages—"severe burns cases are usually kept wrapped like mummies under the conventional method"—patients are encouraged to get out of bed much more quickly under the new method, Welch told reporters.

This not only allows "a thousand percent" psychological improvement, but adds the patient's general physical condition. The only bandaging is in connection with skin-grafting treatments.

Research shows that drafts, chilling, wetting and other discomforts have relatively little effect on common cold infections.

Food is a foundation

As a building depends upon its foundations for safety, so the health of an adult may depend in large measure upon the health foundations laid in childhood. The youngster who has grown up on a balanced diet will probably have a healthier body than one who has been fed less carefully planned meals. Every child, like every adult, needs certain daily amounts of protein, minerals and vitamins for proper maintenance of his body and to supply energy. With-out these necessary nutrients he may suffer some form of malnutrition, to the detriment of his health.

Would change 'spear-like' car designs

A group of doctors who handle many traffic accident cases have advocated an automobile design "which does not masticate pedestrians and children on bicycles," a United Press story from San Francisco reports.

They want to do away with spear-like hood ornaments. They would throw out potato-masher type grilles and sharp-edged visors over the headlights.

They want smooth, rounded front ends, hard rubber shock-absorbing bumpers, recessed and padded dashes, a steering wheel that collapses on impact, door handles that do not stick out, and a change in the shelf behind the back seat to prevent things from flying forward in a quick stop.

They also want doors that do not pop open in a wreck and front seat belts.

These recommendations came from the traffic trauma committee of the California Academy of General Practice.

"If automobile designers would spend two weeks in an emergency hospital their consciences would not allow them to design cars with such deadly features," the committee report said that in accidents a person has a 10 times better chance of staying alive if he is kept inside the car rather than thrown out.

Most of the recommendations, the committee added, have nothing to do with how well a car operates.

"Death and injuries resulting from thoughtless design," it said, "are pretty high price to pay for attempting to make a car look more glamorous."

The business of packing more and more horsepower into cars should be held up until more adequate braking systems can be developed to balance it, the doctors said.

Road transportation facilities seen aid to country's economy

The great economic development of Canada during the past 20 years is due, in large measure, to the excellent road transportation facilities of the nation, C. W. Gilchrist, O.B.E., managing director of the Canadian Good Roads association, told the Second World Meeting of the International Road Federation in Rome. Mr. Gilchrist addressed the world gathering on the social and economic aspects of roads.

The demand for roads exceeds the supply, Mr. Gilchrist told his audience. "Roads have to be rationed by traffic restrictions, penalties, parking tickets and by delay, frustration and time losses imposed on motorists."

Traffic on Canadian roads has been increasing at a phenomenal rate and it has been impossible to keep up with the demand. "Enormous distances, extremes of climate and low population density make it particularly difficult and costly to construct and maintain the road network required to serve this increasing flow of heavier and faster motor traffic. The deficiencies of Canada's roads and streets have become a matter of great concern."

"This lopsided evolution, this slow progress of road development compared with the tremendous rise in traffic, is generally recognized as a serious problem which enters into the life of every Canadian family."

In asking for better and safer roads, the Canadian Good Roads association is not pressing claims of "a narrow, special group but those of the general public," Mr. Gilchrist said.

He advocated the wide adoption of long-range planning of road modernization.

"Mistakes once made in road building are difficult and costly to remedy. The life spans of the component parts of a highway range from a few years in the case of a road to practically infinity for the right-of-way. We are producing assets of great economic longevity in road construction. It is, therefore, essential that our plans and blueprints do not wear out more quickly through lack of vision and design obsolescence than our concrete, asphalt, steel and rock do through physical deterioration. It is the anticipated demand for road services in five, 10, 15, even 25 years from now that should shape the pattern of our supply plans."

"I see, therefore, as the greatest requirement for the future, the introduction of logical, scientific principles into this always complicated business of road development. We should speed up the transition away from the improvised year-by-year, sufficient-into-the-day approach toward sound, long-range road planning with all the means at our disposal. We should collect and distribute information, encourage research and discussion, bring our influence in the interest of scientific planning to bear on government and highway administrators if we want to prepare today for the road needs of tomorrow."

"I feel that, by encouraging the scientific study of all phases of roads and road transportation and by promoting the practical application of the results of such investigations, we can contribute greatly to human welfare in our respective countries and to economic development with our special field of interest."

The original of the oval braided rug shown above was known as "The Rug That Grew up with the Family." When first used it was scarcely large enough for a table for two. It grew a little at a time. It was planned to be 10 feet long and eight wide. The first or centre row was, therefore, made two feet long and the difference between the length and width of the finished rug to be. In the early stages it was rather long and narrow but each winter it grew until it reached the planned size. Football — developer or destroyer?

Sports College is frequently asked whether it considers football a body developer or a body destroyer. This a question usually asked by anxious parents and it's a difficult one to answer. There are many ways to look at it.

There's no doubt that in football the athlete is liable to suffer injuries that will stay with him the rest of his life. In the normal course of a game, the athlete will suffer many other injuries that—although painful at the time—do not have long-term effects.

In this respect, football can be considered a body destroyer.

However, playing the game itself, plus the training associated with it, are very rugged. They build strong muscles and good organic fitness.

From this viewpoint, football can definitely be classed as a body developer.

Sports College feels that if the game is played under proper supervision it must be classed as a healthy, worthwhile type of exercise and play. Certainly, the majority of those who play football gain a great deal more physically than they lose.

A good ball-handling drill for the backfield

One of the simplest and yet most effective drills to develop good ball-handling skill is what we refer to as "exchange drill".

Backfielders line up about two yards apart, facing in the same direction as they would at a kick-off. Starting with the second man in line, every other man is given a ball. To start the drill, the end man turns and starts down the line of players. When he gets to the second man, he takes the ball on a hand-off. When he reaches the third man, he hands-off again, and so on down the line.

This drill is conducted at top speed. It can be stopped from time to time to check on ball-handling technique. The drill can be run from left to right or right to left.

If ball-handling has been very poor in the backfield, start the drill slowly with emphasis on the technique of taking and handing off the ball properly. Speed it up only when progress is being made.

WEEKLY BIBLE COMMENT

LOVE IS CEMENT WHICH BINDS CHRISTIAN HOME

Christian homes don't just happen. They have to be made and it takes all the members of the family to make them. They cannot be made by parents alone, no matter how good and well intentioned the parents may be. And a love which implies mutual relationships and obligations should bind the family together.

Children need discipline and training, as well as affection and devotion. They need to learn to bear the burdens and responsibilities that will be theirs when they grow up, and it is no kindness to shield them from everything hard or unpleasant.

Sharing ought to be the spirit and practice of home life. Children ought to be trained to understand, and do, their part in solving the problems of the home.

Helping ought to be a part of every well-regulated Christian home. Little duties should be assigned to all. Here, too, training for the future is all important. The child who has not learned to do things is ill-prepared for life.

These things are inherent in the Christian way, and they are important factors in a happy home. A home in which love is one-sided is off balance. The test of love is in the trials and hard things of life, and these are not avoidable in the home.

As Paul says, "Love suffereth long and is kind." And on these words Christian homes can be made, and kept.

Polyps may aid cancer detection

The early detection of small growths known as polyps may help x-ray specialists reduce death from intestinal cancer, a San Francisco physician said in an address before the 56th annual meeting of the American Roentgen Ray Society held in Chicago recently.

A good part of the solution of intestinal cancer lies in detecting the tumors, or polyps, before they have become invasive or have spread, he said.

"One important element in assuring moderate success in finding these tricky growths is the earnest conviction on the part of the diagnostic radiologist that it is important to find them," he said.

The waiter, striving desperately for a big tip, assured his customer, "Yes, indeed, at Umberufen's Sea Food house you often find a genuine pearl in our oyster stew."

"A likely story," sneered the customer. "I can't even find an oyster."

"There was one grim moment when I was on watch," admitted a glib jack back from a stretch of duty in waters adjacent to Korea. "Suddenly I spotted an enormous torpedo in the sea coming directly at us!"

"Gracious!" exclaimed his maiden aunt. "I hope it was one of ours!"

Young Snoodles braced himself to ask for the hand of crusty old Mr. Bollink's only daughter.

"Take her," snorted Bollinks. "I'm sure you're not making enough to support her—but, on the other hand, neither am I!"

Centenarian dislikes TV, small talk

Mrs. Hanna Chapman Barker of Victoria on her 100th birthday told reporters she dislikes television and automobiles, and she also shuns small talk.

The little lady with clear-cut features for the last three years has lived at the home for aged women "because I felt my health going," she said.

"I don't care for television, and I do not like cars. It's not that they are too new or too fast exactly, but I used to like to walk. There are a lot of new things I have no use for."

Mrs. Barker is a bit deaf now and her eyesight is failing. "I used to read and sew, and since I can't see to thread a needle, that cuts me short now. And I don't like a lot of talking unless it is something sensible."

She recalled that all members of her family had long lives, from 70 to 84 years. Her mother lived to be 102.

Mrs. Barker has two children, a son and daughter, living in Victoria.

OF MANY THINGS (by Ambrose Hills) FREEDOM

We had company the other night and among the many subjects talked about was freedom. I've been half angry ever since. Not one of our guests seemed to know the reasons men crave and need freedom. They have a vague notion it is a thing that Chambers of Commerce and Manufacturers pump for, but nobody else needs very much. Well, I'm tickled that somebody's pumping for freedom, but if the truth were realized, the fellow who'd be fighting the hardest for freedom would be YOU — or me, or the other Toms, Dicks and Harrys in this country. And I'll tell you why I feel that way.

Freedom is my very pay cheque — and yours, too, if you think about it. When you've done your day's stint, isn't the freedom you've earned the most important thing — the freedom to go for an outing with your family, in your own car, perhaps, or take in a show, or play billiards, or read, or argue with friends (my choice), or listen to a lecture, or attend prayer meeting.

There are so many choices. Suppose at the end of your day you were merely given a certificate redeemable at a State store? Suppose your reading matter was all prepared for you by a State agency? Suppose you needed a permit to travel? Suppose your free choices were all taken away from you? What would you be working for then? A mere brute existence!

To me, my freedom is the real profit from a day's work. And because I have freedom, I can choose the work that comes as close to my desires as is practical. Of course, I must make a living; that is a discipline imposed by nature — not by man. I'll gladly put up mighty suspicious of those imposed by men.

Ever stop to figure what a hundred new families means to a growing town — which could be Coleman?

A recent editorial in the Newsletter of the U.S. "Society of Planning Officials" does it out this way in terms of extended services and expansion of the municipal organization:

What do 100 families mean to the community? What do we have to do here in 1955 to supply all the public services that urban residents need and demand? How much will some of these things cost?

It seems to me that these figures would come in handy many times. It seems to me, too, that they would be quite easily pictured by laymen who don't know and don't care about things like age-sex pyramids.

Here's how they will look.

One hundred new families mean about 450 new people. One hundred new families will put about 100 new children in our schools. About 67 will be in grammar school and 33 in high school. If you operate on the 6-3-3 system, it will be 50 in grammar school, 25 in junior high, and 25 in senior high school.

We can follow this school business, which is mighty important, a little further. You will need 22 new grade school rooms and 165 new high school rooms, which will cost about $120,000. You will need four new school teachers and they are hard to find. The 100 families will add about $30,000 a year to the school operating budget.

The school board will have to get about four acres of land; one acre for grammar school, one acre for high school, one acre for parks, and one acre for playgrounds and playfields.

Besides school teachers, the 100 new families will require you to hire other municipal employees. The city will need 0.84 new employees in the police department and two thirds of a new fireman. The police budget will have to be boosted $4,510 each year and the fire department budget increased $2,820.

You will need all sorts of additional jobs done, like cleaning streets and like collecting garbage and collecting taxes, like looking after the city parks and city health. You will probably need four new persons on the municipal payroll besides the policemen, firemen and school teachers, a $12,000 to $15,000 added to the annual payroll.

The water department will have to figure on providing about 10,000 additional gallons of water each day. The 100 families will own 140 automobiles and trucks that will be added to your present traffic.

There are all sorts of odds and ends of things the 100 new families require. Like a new hospital bed (price $10,000); 500 new volumes in the library (add $675 to the library's annual budget; a fraction of a visiting nurse; and a fraction of a cell in the jail.

Scene from the Black Hills Passion Play

Christianity's oldest Passion Play, the 714 year old dramatization of the lonely Man of Nazareth first produced in Luenen, Germany in 1242, and brought to the United States to win national acclaim as the Black Hills Passion Play, will make an appearance in Lethbridge November 18-19-21-22-23. To be staged at the Collegiate Auditorium, The Black Hills Passion Play is sponsored by the Southminster AOTS. Praised by clergy of all churches, as well as by stage critics as offering the most enriching dramatic experience ever staged before the American public, the production will be brought to Lethbridge as a civic project.

BIGGER DIVIDENDS

Canadians will get a greater share of higher profits this year, reports The Financial Post. Dividend declarations are racing ahead in nearly every category. Total declarations this year will be at least 9 per cent ahead of 1954's $593 millions. Third quarter corporate earnings reports continue healthy. Net profits are running an average of 12 per cent ahead of 1954.

Hailed as a modern miracle and as the greatest drama produced on the American stage today by such outstanding critics as Robert Casey of the "Chicago Daily News", Robert Collins of the "Chicago Tribune", "Time Magazine", and many others, this production should be a must for every "theater goer" in Lethbridge and surrounding districts.

Alberta Tuberculosis Xmas Seals Mailed

Mr. A. H. Branch, president of the Alberta Tuberculosis Association, announced today that the culmination of weeks of preparation by volunteer committees throughout the province was reached this week end with the mailing of Christmas Seals in the opening of the campaign to raise $214,000. The objective this year is slightly higher than the $210,000 realized last year which, it is expected, will enable the Association to complete the project undertaken five years ago of installing equipment in hospitals for routine X-ray of all hospital admissions. In addition to the protection of hospital staffs and patients possible infection, it has been found there is far more tuberculosis among those entering hospital than in the general population and thus many unsuspected cases are brought to light.

Deaths from tuberculosis have declined during recent years and Alberta now enjoys the second lowest death rate in Canada, but, possibly due to the intensified case-finding effort, there are as many new cases being discovered as ever. Fortunately, early discovery not only means shorter term of treatment but a greater chance of recovery and restoration to normal life.

In connection with the Christmas Seal campaign, Mr. R. J. McCulloch, chairman of the Lethbridge Kiwanis Club TB Christmas Seal Sale Committee said, "Now more than ever is the time to press forward in the battle to wipe out TB. The disease can be controlled and finally eliminated altogether with the continuation of present methods of treatment and joint efforts of voluntary and official agencies in the case-finding field. That is why it is so important that the people continue to support us as they have in the past."

He is tuning in on Solar Power (check numbers on your own telephone dial) in a key experiment to tap the sun's energy for a new type of rural telephone service. The device, a solar battery, converts the sun's energy directly into usable amounts of electricity, and excess current feeds into a storage battery for use at night and during periods of bad weather. The battery, developed by Bell Laboratories, is said to be at least 15 times more efficient than previous solar energy converters.

Alberta has permanent monument

Alberta, which this year celebrates its 50th year as a Canadian province, has a permanent monument to mark its incorporation. On the northern approach to the Legislative Building at Edmonton, a cut-stone monument has been erected on the recommendation of the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada.

Dedicated to the creation of the Province of Alberta September, 1905, the plaque on the monument reads:

"To this land of prairie, foothill, mountain and river, where the Indian roamed, came explorer, fur trader, voyageur, missionary, ranchman, farmer and railway builder. At points on river and railway, towns and cities grew. Within the North West Territories the battle for responsible government was again fought and won.

"The demand for wider autonomy led to the setting apart of the western portion of the Territories as the Province of Alberta, which was formally inaugurated on 1st September, 1905. Hon. V. H. V. Buley was the first Lieutenant-Governor and Hon. A. C. Rutherford the first Premier."

Even a small scratch may, if it becomes infected, become dangerous. A wound of any size should have immediate treatment, dirt should be removed and a dressing used to keep out germs. A well equipped first aid kit will ensure sterile dressings for first aid.

Premier Steel Mills Opening

Edmonton, Nov. 6 — Alberta's first major steel producer will be officially opened here November 16 by Premier E. C. Manning, and President Francis Winspear of Premier Steel Mills Ltd.

The ceremony will be held at the $2,000,000 Premier Steel Mills plant, located in Strathcona, on the outskirts of Edmonton.

The 72,000 square foot mill will have a 35,000 ton annual capacity all produced from scrap steel.

The majority of the steel will be used by Alberta's booming construction industry. It will be the only steel mill between Winnipeg and Vancouver.

Premier's managing director, Gerald Heffernan, will introduce the speakers at the ceremony.
